Foreword

This book has been published as a reflection of our school life. It is impossible to record on printed pages all of the joys, sorrows, failures and successes we have experienced. This pictorial will help you imagine how wonderful these years have been. The final chapter has not been written, but we hope it will be equally as meaningful and pleasant.

There are no boundaries to our aspirations, nor ends to our learning. We hope there will be none to your enjoyment as you browse through these pages prepared by The Staff of 1958.

Dedication

For having ceaselessly devoted your intellect, time and energy to the general welfare of humanity, and more especially to the progress of Union High School, we the senior class proudly dedicate this annual to our principal, Mr. George Brown Ruffin.

At no time have we ever found you too busy to help us solve our problems. Never have we known you to be too heavily laden to inject a lifting word of humor nor unwilling to exert your efforts above and beyond the call of duty.

As a leader of men and a gentleman of honor, King and Queen County does itself proud to claim you as one of its native sons. As a brilliant scholar; the King and Queen Industrial High School where you received your early education, Virginia Union University where you earned the A.B. Degree, The University of Pennsylvania that conferred the M.A. Degree, and Ohio State College where you have continued your professional improvement, single you out with dignity as one of their illustrious alumnus. As the sixth principal of Union High School, where you served three years as history teacher and athletic coach, the students and people of Carolina laud these twenty-one years of progressive leadership as significant to their way of life.

Your radiant personality has not been contained within the boundaries of our County nor District. Successfully, you have manned the helm of the Secondary Principal's Group of the First District Teachers Association for twelve years as their president and chairman of their Study Group. Memories of your courageous exploits and victorious spirit on the athletic fields of various colleges aided the members of Virginia Union University National Panther Club to select you as their chaplain. The growth of the First District Teachers Association can be attributed in part to your participation as a member and vice president.

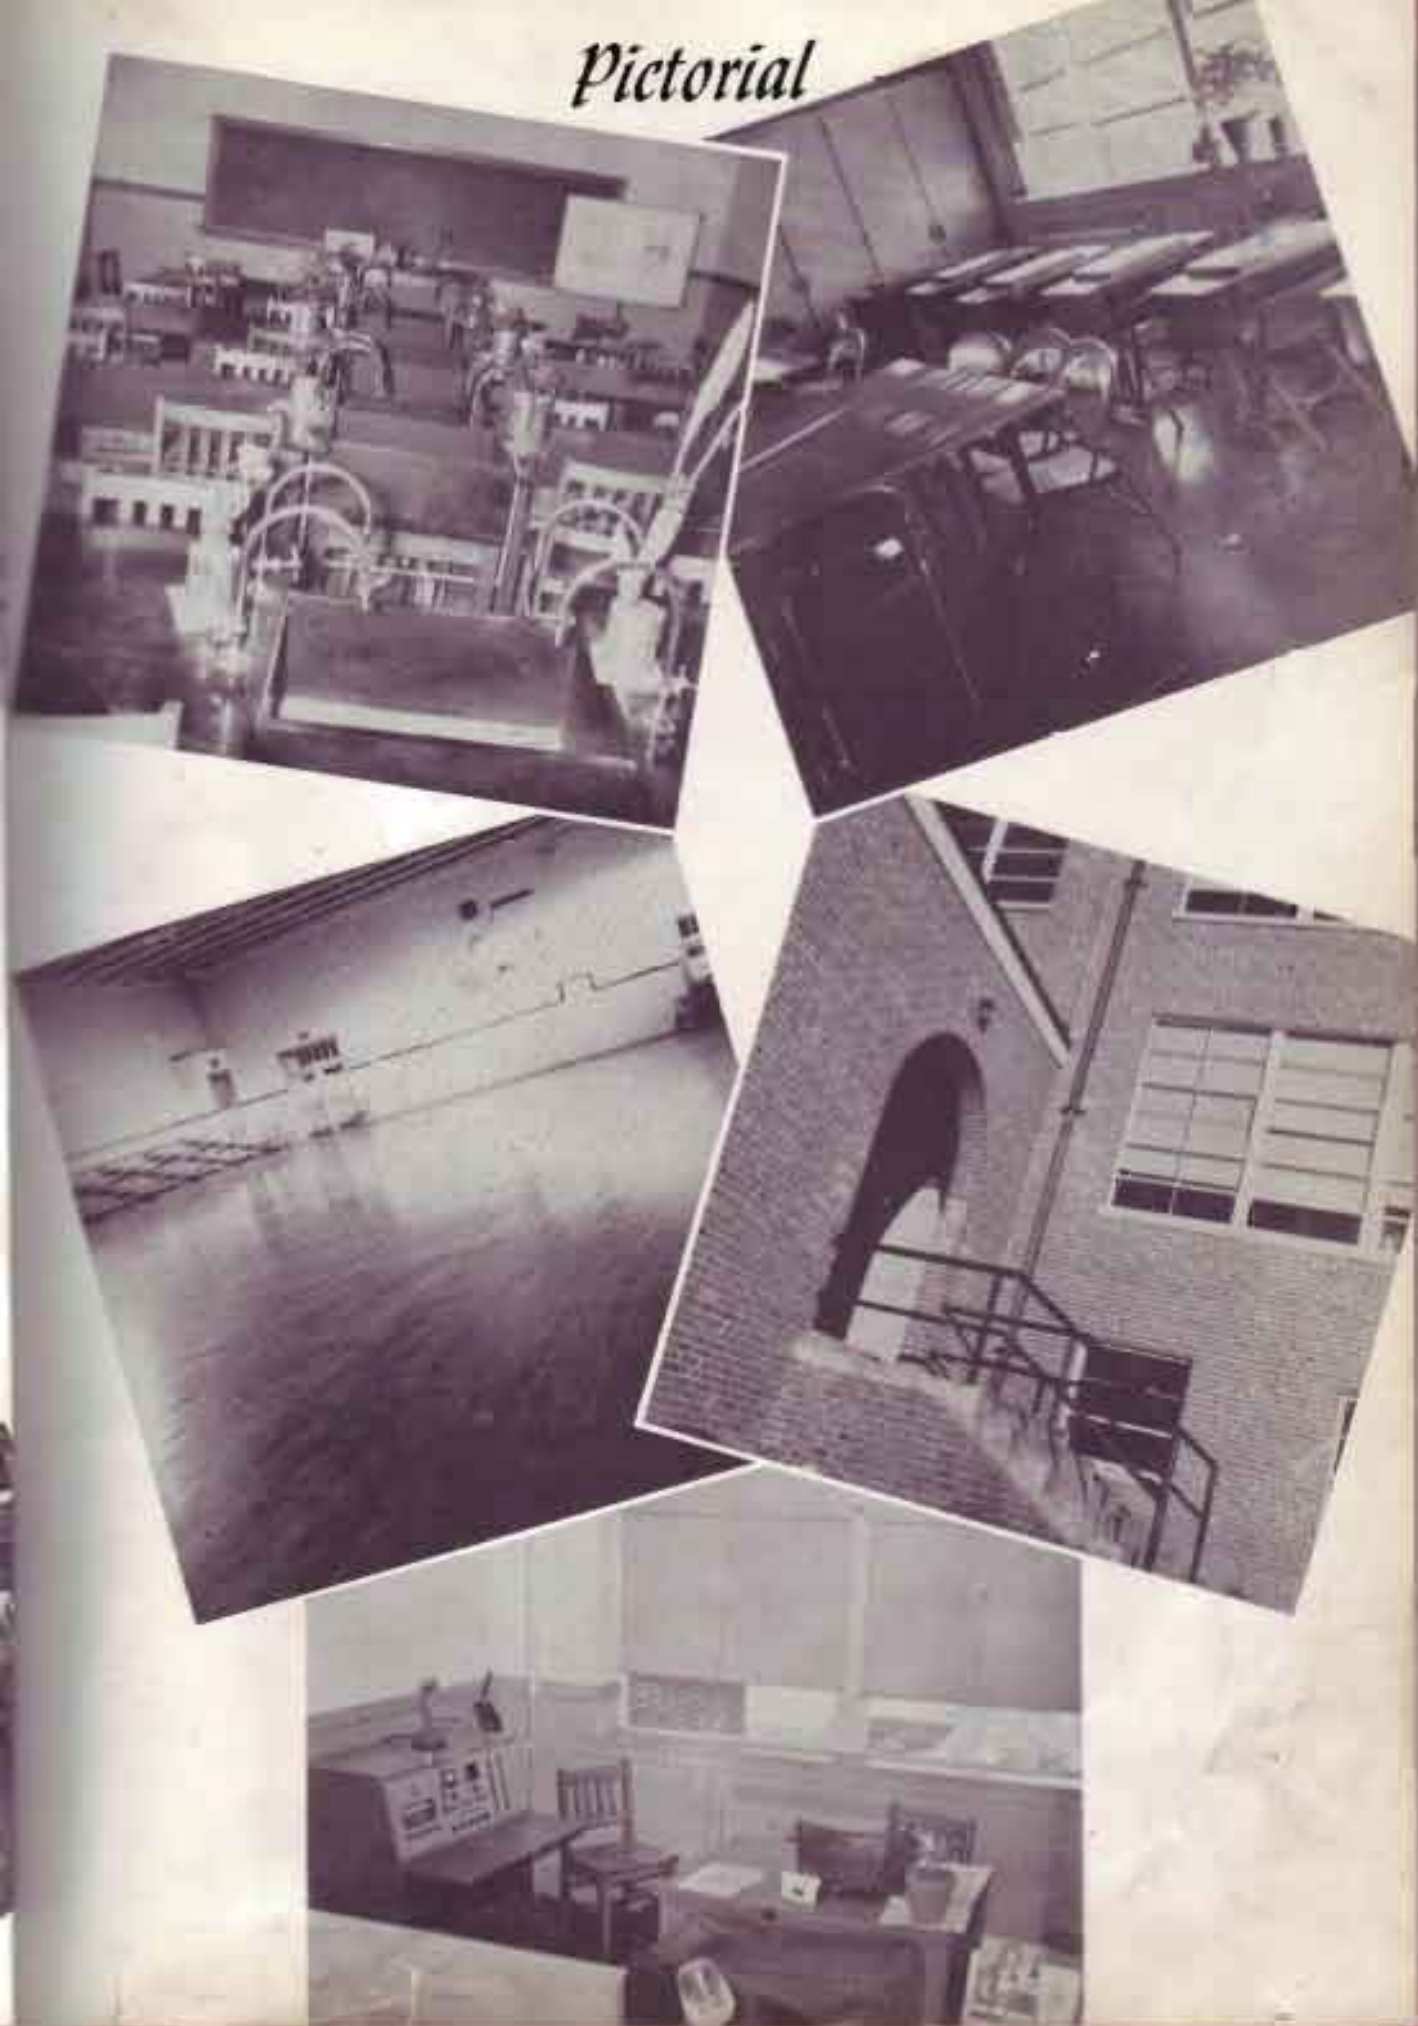

Our exhaustive labours on this annual fed our desires to dedicate it to some one who had sacrificed more than we. Our rich experiences at Union High will remain in the archives with those who have preceded us, and we wanted to dedicate this annual to someone who had worked with us more than they. Our high esteem led us to dedicate this Annual to you, Mr. George Brown Ruffin. May many more students be blessed by your guidance, and learn to serve humanity as worthwhile citizens through your exemplary life as principal, teacher, and friend.

Principal's Message

It is with much pleasure that I congratulate each member of the graduating class of 1958 for having completed the required courses and experiences for this achievement. It is my sincere hope that your efforts to grow in knowledge and to be of good character will not end here; that your faith will be excellent; and your eagerness to serve humanity will always be great.

There is always a need to grow in knowledge; for, the more we know about our world and people about us, the better prepared we are to live the full and happy life. Our world is an ever renewing world. Everyday, with its new inventions and discoveries, new problems and new dangers, require new vision and an increased stock of knowledge. The law of growth is as great as the universe and as old as time.

The acorn teaches it; the oak exemplifies it. It is said to be gentle enough to color a rose and mighty enough to make a world. Finally it may be described as God's beautiful law of evolution working not only in our bodies but shaping our minds and characters, as well as a force that makes things grow from weak to strong and from good to better every where.

Growth in good character is the greatest hope of society of today. For good character is in all cases the fruit of personal exertion. It is not inherited, nor is it created by external advantages. It is the result of one's own endeavors. Character is made of vigorous and persistent resistance to evil tendencies. It is the fruit and reward of good principles manifested in a course of virtuous and honorable action.

Desirable character and knowledge well used can best be realized through eternal faith; for, he who believes is strong and he who doubts is weak. There is a limit to where intellect alone can travel and all the scholastic scaffolding falls as a ruined edifice if faith is lacking. Faith marches at the head of the train of progress. It is found beside the most refined life, the freest government, the noblest poetry and purest humanity.

Remember that the best preparation for the future is the present well seen to and the last duty well done; for the path of duty lies in what is near, though men too often seek for it in what is remote. Your duty is clear and simple and consists of your obligations to God and to humanity.

Many the sons and daughters of Union High School who are rendering countless services in the various parts of our land and country. Today we invite you to join this great family and may your doing so give to new vigor, strength and greatness.

A sincere friend,

George Brown Ruffin

George Brown Ruffin

We, the senior class, proudly dedicate this page to Miss Marguerite Davis and J. Shelby Gust.

With patience you met our energetic demands;
with guidance you lead our youthful anxiety; and with sincere devotion you fostered our many causes.
The pleasure of having worked with you has been inspiring, rewarding, and enjoyable. It is our hope that many more students will share your splendid leadership.

One more river to cross. This is how we felt as juniors. Now when we get to be seniors, we are going to be different. Not important, not sure of everything, but understanding and efficient would be our status. Well, not very important!!!

MRS. MARY E. DUNGEE, Advisor

MR. CHRISTOPHER C. LEE, Advisor

We wanted to do everything. Impress the freshmen and eighth graders, and strive to become juniors was our motto. The annual trip was something to look forward to, and serving at the Junior-Senior Prom was a much desired honor.

First year high school!! Now we really belong since we have passed that in-between stage of elementary and high school. Choices are ours to make in this year. Our only elevation is that the eighth graders are below us, but we are climbing.

MR. WALTER YOUNG, Advisor

MR. JAMES BARRETT, Advisor

Just bold enough to try to get one over on someone because we were "officially" in high school caused some of us to be reprimanded at times. However, we wouldn't trade this year for anything. Our hopes are that those following will be half as great.

These classes being ever mindful of their responsibilities to humanity donated these tokens to members of their community at Thanksgiving. It was a gesture of gratitude for the many acts of kindness that the students had received from the people.

THE NEW FARMERS OF AMERICA

I believe in the dignity of farm work and that I shall prosper in proportion as I learn to put knowledge and skill into the occupations of farming.

I believe that the farm boy who learns to produce better crops and better livestock; who learns to improve and beautify his home surroundings will find joy and success in meeting the challenging situations as they arise in his daily living.

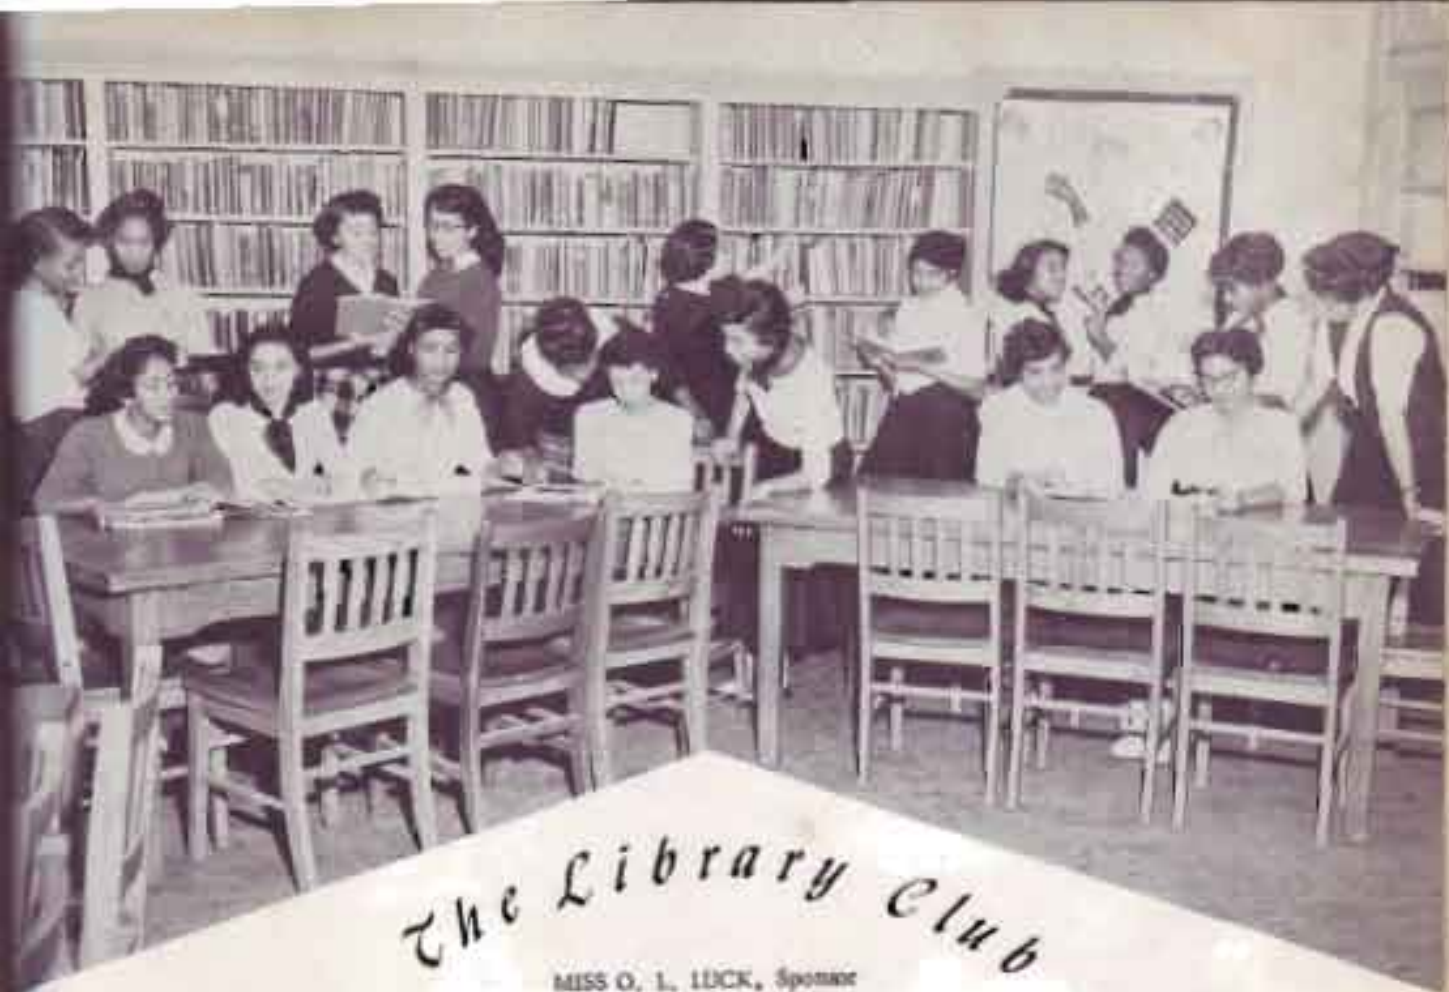

I believe that rural organizations should develop their leaders from within; that the boys in the rural communities should look forward to positions of leadership in the civic, social and public life surrounding them.

I believe that the life of service is the life that counts; that happiness endures to mankind when it comes from having helped lift the burdens of others.

I believe in the practice of cooperation in agriculture; that it will aid in bringing to the man lowest down a wealth of giving as well as receiving.

I believe that each farm boy bears the responsibility for finding and developing his talents to the end that the life of his people may thereby be enriched so that happiness and contentment will come to all.

Prophecy

As I purchased my ticket from Herbert Johnson, a ticket salesman for Space Travelers Incorporated, to enter into outer space, I remembered the graduating class of 1958. My journey began by getting on the Space Transit System which was driven by Aubrey Harris, Everett Garnett, and Macy Jones. I was astonished to find that my seat companion was Floyd Coates, another of the graduates. Across from us sat Frances Williams and Isaac Johnson discussing future plans for their Bible Institute. Further up the orbit, Lucille Boxley and Mildred Rock entered the ship with intentions of becoming secretaries in Henry Terrell's Ultra Modern office. Mechanical difficulties delayed us at Wilton Wright's Space Center. To my amazement there was Henry Golden as head mechanic and George Claiborne as his aide.

We then departed to Edna Hudson and Phyllis Johnson's Swank Hotel. There we were greeted by hostesses, Arvis Terry and Juanita Woolfolk. We proceeded to the dining room where Dorothy Minor and Lucy Gordon were cafeteria managers. The meal was so well planned and delicious, that we could not help but ask the dietician's name. They replied, "Beryl Fortune and Frances Young." We found ourselves near Hutchinson's Observatory, which was built by John Tolson's Electrical Engineering Company. Yvonne Robinson and Daisy Jones were lab technicians at the observatory.

While returning to the ship we encountered Delores Freeman, our faithful stewardess, who informed us the ship was about to depart. We continued our journey until we reached Solar System City, our destination. Our first object was to tour the city. As we entered Hemisphere's Memorial Hospital, we inquired about Annie Abrams, Agnes Garnett, and Ruth Garnett, the hospital's most dependable nurses. We chatted a few moments in the lobby and found out that Edward Green was the main clerk in the hospital. We were enthralled by such a magnificent secretarial school whose chief executives were Doris Jefferson and Malinda Johnson. The most dynamic typist of the Hemisphere, Mary Rock, was vigorously working her way to the top. We visited Solar Hall of Fame where we marveled at the artistic abilities portrayed by Lewis Latney. It was about dinner hour and we enjoyed a luscious dinner served at the home of Helen and Hattie Moore. With refilled stomachs, we visited the Music Symphony Hall where Alice Upshaw was playing an originally composed operetta which was sung by Joan Childs and Jacqueline Fleming.

Where do you think we went next? To Airport Stadium and watched Raymond Burruss pitch a no-hitter. Then on to Einstein High School, and to our disbelief Bernice Lomax head instructor in mathematics was discussing mathematical equations. Before our disbelief subsided, we discovered Evelyn Wright was principal of the elementary department. Doris Beasley, physical education instructor, had a string of 63 consecutive basketball victories. Ruth Carter was serving as commercial teacher. Secretaries to the principal were Ruth Childs and Dorothy Derricotte. We then entered the studios of station NMSS and settled down. Then, BAM! Lewis Williams the emcee of, "You Asked For It," introduced Genevieve Waller and Jeanetta Parker to demonstrate their abilities in surgery.

What next!! You guessed it. It was Shirley Johnson and Alice Fox, models for the Meteorite Sales Company. We did not know that Ruby Jackson and Martha Jones were clerks for the same firm. At the conclusion of that program, Cora Royce was a special guest. Our journey took us on to the cinema where Doris Fortune was playing the leading role. David Howard and Howard Jones were the producers.

In your mind you are probably pondering. What is this? A science-fiction drama? No! It is only the graduating class of '58 zooming to the top and prophesying what the future holds in store.
